What is Flow Forming?

A pre-casted and heated-up wheel is "formed" against the forming mould by a pressure tool. The tool (pad) and the wheel are rotated together at high speeds. A very high and localized force (pressure) is applied to the wheel-rim to cause it to flow over the forming mould.

FLOW FORMING TECHNOLOGY

Thanks to the light weight of the wheels, the advantages are:

Extended life of tyres and brakes (better brake and heat dispersion)

Reduce fuel consumption

Better car handling, acceleration and braking

Unsprung masses reduction

+ Resistant + Safe + Comfort
